THE ARDEN CASE

Probability That the Engineer Will Soon Be Restored.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN MACON.

A Doctor and Railroad Man Charged with Being Accomplices of Dr. Glover.

The News in Brief.

Macon, Ga., April 20.—(Special.)—It is rumored that Engineer Arden, of the Central, will soon be reinstated. Arden, it will be remembered, recently refused to haul cars of the Sam road when there was a strike on that road and he was discharged.
His case has excited considerable interest among engineers and others in Georgia. It is believed that Judge Speer favors the reinstatement of Arden, and when Superintendent Wadley learns this he will no doubt rapidly agree to reinstate Arden. The late decision of Judge Speer settled the principle on which Arden was removed, and as Arden in refusing to haul the Sam cars only carried out the law of the brotherhood, his reinstatement would be natural.
No doubt Superintendent Wadley will look at it in this way.

Were They Pals of Dr. Glover?

H. C. Carroll, railroad ticket agent, tel-igraph operator, etc., at Gibson, Glascock county, was brought to Macon this afternoon under arrest by United States Deputy Marshal Whitely suspected of aiding Dr.
J. B. Glover, of Glascock, in passing counterfeit money. He was put on trial before United States Commissioner Martin and the hearing continued until a late hour tonight. He was represented by Attorney Grace.

An account has already been published of Glover's arrest on a charge of passing counterfeit twenty-dollar gold pieces, and being bound over in the sum of $500.
Glover declares that "Ticket Agent Carroll gave him a ticket to go to Augusta and when he returned the counterfeit, and when he returned to Gibson he gave to Carroll part of the good money he had in charge in charge of August. Carroll denies all this and says it is blackmail.

This afternoon Dr. J. T. Dixon, of Glascock, was also arrested before Commissioner Martin, charged with offenses similar to Glover and Carroll's. Drs. Glover and Dixon are first cousins and live near each other in Glascock. They graduated at the Augusta Medical college. Dixon admits blowing the bellows for Glover to make metal and knew that he was engaged in passing it, but says he did not help pass
it. When Glover was arrested, Dixon broke the plaster paris molds with which Glover made the counterfeit money.

Dixon was found over in the sum of $500. It is thought that Carroll will also be bound over, but his trial had not ended when this telegram was sent.

Washout on a Railroad.

There were one or two small washouts
on the Georgia Southern road last night, but no serious damage was done. A sawmill trainway was washed out, connecting with the Georgia Southern had about half a mile of track washed away. It is reported that the rain near Valdosta was very hard.

Owing to a freight train wreck yesterday on the Georgia Southern several carloads of northern people returning from Florida had to be brought by the Sam road to America and then transferred to the Central and brought to Macon. The train is all clear now and there is no further delay.

Stricken with Paralysis.

It is reported here that a few days ago
Mr. Emmet Bonner, formerly of Macon but now residing in Chattanooga, was stricken with paralysis. He was attacked from the hip during a storm. Mr. Bonner is a son of Captain Bonner, of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and Queen and Crescent roads. He is under Mr. E.
T. Charlton, former of the Central. Mr.
Bonner is a young gentleman highly esteemed by all who know him. Prior to his departing Chattanooga he was a union passenger ticket office at Macon
under Agent L. J. Harris. Mr. Bonner's many friends hope that he will soon recover from his sickness.

Lumason Not Guilty.

In the superior court this afternoon Frank Lumason was found not guilty of attempt to murder Lum Scott. The jury was out seven hours.

A Blind Man Charged with Forgery.

When the superior court adjourned tonight it was hearing the forgery case against a blind negro, A. P. Pope. He is charged with having forged a check for $100.00 belonging to Champ Bryant, and obtaining $500 on property fraudulently from the Union Savings bank.

of the box is ornamented with an excellent

Vice President Sam McAlister, and the league. The lid is also decorated with ball, bats, gloves, mask, and in fact all the paraphernalia of a well equipped baseball club. The cigar will no doubt be largely patronized by all the fans in the south.

The jury found Cash Tinsley not guilty of the murder of John Griffith. The jury was out not much over an hour.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

A Boy Badly Hurt—A Romantic Marriage—
Other News at Griffin.

Griffin, Ga., April 20.—(Special.)—This morning a negro boy, John Neal, aged fourteen years, happened to a very peculiar and probably fatal accident. He died shortly after.

Mr. Carhart has a large fine bay horse which has been slightly crippled for several days.
This morning after feeding the horse, the negro boy took him out for a walk in the streets for exercise. As he was passing by the Presbyterian church, the horse suddenly reared on his hind feet and began wildly pawing. The negro was struck down and badly hurt. The most serious wound is a bad cut on the right temple. A physician was called in who attended to the boy and thought that there was a chance for his recovery. He is still unconscious and has been since he was hurt.

Another romantic marriage which occurred at Hollister, a village near here, this evening at 7:30 o'clock, may be added to the long list of those who lately take this solemn leap in the dark. Miss Lorena Perdue, daughter of Rev. H. H. Perdue, of that village, was married to Mr. Allen Wright, of Keithland, Fla., her father performing the ceremony. The young couple met for the first time this day, though they had been corresponding for some time.

Rev. Sam W. Small is conducting a service of very interesting meetings at the Methodist church in this city. The meetings are largely attended, and full of earnest interest. The revival under his preaching promises to be the most successful one seen here in many years.

Dirt was broken for the new three-story
Young Men's Christian Association building today. The contract has been awarded to Mr. Findley Kincaid, of this city.

A Run on a Bank.

Albany, Ga., April 20.—(Special.)—The new Exchange bank of this city, and an unexpected run made on it last night during the downpour of rain. A sewer drain, just in front of the bank, being insufficient to carry off the great volume of water which fell to its share, the water rushed over the sidewalk and sweeping through the crack under the door, sawed very soon from the run and is doing business as usual.

Convicted of Voluntary Manslaughter.

Albany, Ga., April 20.—(Special.)—Warren
Crawford, colored, who killed Nathan Mercer,
a white man, in this county, two years ago, by beating him to death with a cane, was convicted in the superior court today of voluntary manslaughter. This was a second trial, he having been convicted of murder in the first degree in the first trial, but his attorney, since that time, secured a new trial with the result stated.

TEN PAGES.

ATLANTA, GA., April 21, 1893.

Editor Halstead at Sea.

It seems to be natural and inevitable that the sham bimetalists who are trying to make gold and silver popular with the people should make spectacles of themselves. We do not know how far The Courier-Journal is going in this direction, but we warn our contemporary now that it cannot break the force or destroy the effect of the magnificent series of essays on bimetalism that appeared in its editorial columns a few years ago. It added to educate the people on this subject and it cannot now deceive them in any particular.

Editor Halstead is going about claiming in his vociferous way that only he and those who agree with him are bimetalists, but we trust that our friend of The Courier-Journal is not prepared to follow Mr. Halstead in his escapade in the financial underbrush. For he runs away from reason and common sense with gestures of alarm that are too natural to be comical. Mr. Halstead declares that silver should be coined at the present market rate, thus denying to congress its constitutional right and power to regulate the value of money.

But by far his most curious contention is his announcement that the free coinage of silver at the present legal ratio will not increase its market price. "On the contrary," says Mr. Halstead, "with that display of off-hand wisdom that has made him an interesting figure in modern journalism, 'on the contrary the price of silver will fall.'"

In other words, Mr. Halstead declares that the owners of silver bullion, although they can get $1.29 an ounce for it in coin or paper at the mints of the United States, will prefer to pay the freight on it to London and sell it for 83 cents. This only applies to silver. Of course, a man who is offered a thousand dollars for a pair of horses in Atlanta will not go to the expense of sending them to New York where he can get $700 for them, but if he has a thousand ounces of silver he will refuse $1,290 in Philadelphia and sell in London for $830, less the cost of carriage.

How simple and natural this is! People will transact business in the old way with regard to everything else but silver. That metal they will persist in selling for as little as they can get, and will refuse a high price in order to enjoy the inestimable privilege of accepting a lower one.

But what a silly proposition it is for a sensible man to make! And what a queer spectacle Mr. Halstead makes of himself when he is driven to father it! A little child that has spent two months at a kindergarten school would know that if the owners of silver bullion could exchange it at the mints for legal tender coin or paper at the rate of $1.29 an ounce this fact would fix the price, as well as the value, so far as the United States are concerned. And any person capable of reasoning knows that the fact that silver would fetch $1.29 in this market would have a powerful influence on the price of bullion in all the European countries with which our international relations are said to be so close and intimate.

It is to be feared that discussion of the question has either irritated or bewildered Mr. Halstead. He turns upon The Constitution in a recent article and says that "the price of silver was not affected a cent's worth by the alleged demonetization; not one cent's worth." Now, if Mr. Halstead had said that the value of silver, as compared with other commodities, has not been affected, he would have given utterance to a truth which it is very desirable that the people should know and understand; but when he says the price has not been affected, the kindergarten pupil could prove to him that he is talking nonsense. Demonetization has affected the price of silver bullion, as it has affected the price of all commodities that are the product of human industry, and the statement is true, whether we say that gold has appreciated in value, or that silver has fallen in price.

As a matter of fact the discussion of the silver question is a mere matter of words. There is nothing substantial about it except the demand of the people that the law of 1873, by which it was surreptitiously demonetized, be repealed. The arguments of the sham bimetalists and the goldolators have no practical bearing on the question. Open the mints to the free coinage of silver, restore the metal to our currency system, and then let the practical discussion begin if there is need of any. Editor Halstead and his brethren can prophesy with more accuracy with the facts before them. Remonetize silver and it will be time enough then to escape from the direful events which the goldolators predict.

The Infamous Bond Conspiracy.

There has never been a more infamous conspiracy to embarrass the government and swindle the people than that which has been concocted by the money power and the gold sharks for the purpose of compelling the treasury to issue bonds. The onus of this outrageous attempt has been placed by common consent on Wall street, but the banks and the gold sharks of Wall street have no more interest in the success of the scheme than the banks and money sharks in other parts of the northeast.

The conspiracy is something worse than a threat. It is a bold effort to carry out by force and fraud a program that could never be carried out in the people's congress. The bankers and the money sharks want to perpetuate the present currency system which is robbing the debtors of the country. They want to perpetuate the national banking system, which had outlived its usefulness twenty years ago. They want to pocket the profits that would accrue from a new issue of bonds. Finally, and most important of all, they desire to commit the democratic administration to their scheme of robbery.

This is the situation at the present moment, and the conspirators pretend to be hopeful that the course of events will enable them to carry out their purposes. It is to be noted, however, that Secretary Carlisle has given them not the slightest reason to believe that he is moved by either their claims or their empty arguments. He has, as it were, cut the treasury entirely loose from the connection that it has had with the money shark element. He has not been found running to New York to confer with the conspirators. He has held aloof from them, and not a single utterance of his can be found to contain a trace of sympathy with their infamous conspiracy to embarrass the government and saddle additional taxes on the people by means of an illegal issue.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to one significant fact in connection with this infamous conspiracy. While the banks and the money sharks of the east have displayed a pious activity in their raids on the gold reserve, and in their efforts to embarrass the government, the banks of the west have promptly come forward, whenever the emergency seemed to demand it, with offers of gold in exchange for small notes. In other words, while the banks of the east have been making a tremendous effort to break down the gold reserve, the banks of the west have made haste to come to the assistance of the treasury.

It will be well for the people of the south to remember this significant fact in the final settlement of this financial issue.

The South from a Literary Point of View.

Mr. Hamlin Garland, who is one of the brightest of the new school of novelists—a realist in theory and an idealist in practice—is now enjoying his first view of the south, and he seems to be making the most of his opportunities.

To a Memphis newspaper man Mr. Garland expressed the opinion that there is a rich treasure house of literary material in the south—a field which has scarcely been touched as yet. He believes that the coming American novelists will deal with this comparatively new field. Besides our peculiar local features, the varying phases of the negro problem will supply inexhaustible material for generations to come. Then the civil war affords boundless scope for dramatic fiction. As Mr. Garland puts it, the war was viewed in the north from afar. It caused no scarcity of men, and everything went on as usual. In the south it was actually seen and felt. It was a horrible reality. All the men were engaged in it, from the cradle to the grave, so to speak. No northerner can handle such a theme; it belongs to southern writers.

In this brief way our literary tourist has thrown out some suggestive hints which southern story writers should utilize. Our very familiarity with the features of the life around us leads us to underrate them. It never strikes us that the lights and shadows of our antebellum civilization, the struggle of the confederacy, and the upheaval that followed it, are capable of being transformed into vivid pictures that would rivet the attention of the whole outside world. When the southern writer devotes himself to the real life of his people he will command all mankind for an audience. But no story of southern life will win an enduring place in literature unless it is written by one who feels a sympathetic interest in the subject—one who has something of the poet, the artist and the historian in his make-up, with a touch of "Old Mortality" in his faithful, loving nature. Already a few of our writers have achieved a degree of brilliant success in this almost unexplored domain, but they are only skimming the outer edge, blazing the way for those who are to follow them.

Manufacturing in the South.

The Boston Advertiser rightly says that the growth of manufacturing in the south cannot be promoted by offering a bonus to each new enterprise, nor by so-called booming methods. Our mills and furnaces must spring into existence in obedience to the natural laws controlling trade and industry.

In the near future capitalists influenced by obvious considerations of gain will invest their money in manufactures in this region. They will see, as Henry W. Grady expressed it, that we have easy control of the three essential items of all industries—cotton, iron and wood. In cotton we have fixed monopoly—in iron, pioneer supremacy—in timber, the revenue supply of the republic. Artificial conditions cannot prevail against this advantage, and the leading industries of the republic will naturally gravitate here where they will be within touch of field and mine and forest, in the fairest and richest domain of all the world, where every season smiles upon the tiller, and where the soil has only to be tickled with a hoe to laugh with a harvest.

A region so exceptionally blessed need not go begging, and need not offer rewards for new settlers or new enterprises. One thing, however, should be done. We should let the world know something of the potentialities and possibilities now undeveloped, but ready to leap into productive activity under the life-giving touch of enterprise and capital. We are trying to keep shop without advertising our wares and without displaying any samples. This is not business.

A Sunday Problem in Pittsburg.

The cranks in Pittsburg who are enforcing a century old law, under which newspapers cannot be published on Sunday without subjecting their owners to fine or imprisonment, will get sick of their crusade before they are through with it.

Naturally enough, the newspaper men are determined that if the old law is made to apply to them it shall be enforced against other classes of Sunday workers. Mr. Carnegie has been working 800 men in his mills on Sunday without a word of protest from the cranks. The newspaper men say that they propose to stop this, and they will also make cases against leading church members who personally or by proxy cause any work to be done on the Sabbath.

This is more than the reformers bargained for, and their fellow citizens now show a disposition to treat them as a set of pestiferous agitators whose conduct is calculated to stir up bad blood and strife in the community. Their action in making a fight on the newspapers, while the noisy work of the Carnegie mills is ignored, shows that these fellows are not controlled by their regard for law or principle. For some reason they desired to worry the newspapers, but they now find that in digging up the statute of 1797 they have unearthed a weapon that can be used against some of the most important interests of Pittsburg, and against many good citizens whose prosecution will embarrass and annoy the whole community.

It is said that the best way to secure the repeal of a bad law is to enforce it. Let the Pittsburg people carry out their odious law.

The City Life of Today.

The Rev. Dr. Thomas Dixon, of New York, recently preached a very strong sermon on the gross materialism of city life.

Among other things, the doctor said that the city of today is a seething hell in which the manhood of the nation is daily being consumed. Men in cities worship Mammon. Their motto is: "Money by any means, fair or foul." The pressure of work drives men into a fever that makes them unable to think. The moral point of view is lost, and the forces that destroy their character become more active than the upbuilding forces. The preacher said:

"The city today is destroying the character and the manhood of the nation. The modern city as at present constituted does not produce men and women capable of really fighting the battles of life seriously and to a successful issue. The modern city cannot exist but for the blood that pours into it from our rural districts, and this blood is consumed from day to day in this fiery furnace of a corrupt and corrupting life. We are not able to live today in a single great city of America a solitary man born under the conditions of modern city life whose influence counts for anything in this nation's life today."

"This is a terrible indictment, but in the main it is true, although it might just as well have been expressed in less sensational terms."

But the outlook is not altogether gloomy. If the forces of evil are active, the forces of Christianity are growing more active and better organized. The intense strain of modern city life is bound to cause a reaction. Already, the business men and toilers of our large cities are seeking suburban homes. They work during the day in the crowded mart, but their leisure hours are spent where they can see the green trees and the blue sky, and hear the birds singing. Electric railways and other modes of cheap rapid transit have made it possible for even the poorer classes to live in the country and yet attend to their work in the city. This way of living minimizes the evils of city life, especially so far as the young are concerned. It is no longer necessary for people to spend their whole time surrounded by brick walls, working hard all day, and assailed by every form of temptation at night. They can spend at least twelve hours out of the twenty-four in the country, and their families can spend their whole time in the midst of green fields and gardens.

We believe that in the future a current of rural life will in this manner be injected into every large city, refreshing and purifying it. The organized work of Christian civilization will eliminate the slums, and public opinion will regulate other evils. Of course we assume that public opinion itself is growing better, healthier and more active. It must take this upward tendency, because, without a reactionary movement, our city life will be even worse than Dr. Dixon describes it, and we cannot afford the consequences. It is time for the pendulum to swing backward, and it is trembling in that direction.

Mr. Maxwell is not working rapidly, but he is working steadily. The republican postmasters will have to go.

The St. Louis Republic is right when it says that Secretary Carlisle is not owned by the Wall street gold ring. He will recognize silver as lawful money and refuse to issue bonds for the benefit of the conspirators.

The goldbug organs are still charging that Mr. Cleveland will use his official influence to secure legislation in the interest of the eastern money sharks. Such slanders as this are as infamous as the bond conspiracy.

The New York Daily Financial News, published for, and about Wall street, states the case very fairly when it says:

"There is entirely too much of a disposition to charge up everything to the opposition of the Sherman act. European financial embarrassments and American distrust of certain positions are all charged to silver purchases. Every American demand for gold to put it on a footing with its European neighbors is charged against us. We think this is all rot."

Because the goldbugs affect to regard the silver dollar as a representative of gold value, it is no reason why Mr. Carlisle should do so. He is at the head of the people's treasury, and the people took in the silver dollar as gold, hard cash.

WANTED—A Georgia official to lay before the President Colonel A. E. Buck's record and demand his removal on the ground of offensive partisanship, to which he defiantly pleads guilty. The colonel is in the wrong paw.

The only trouble that the people have with the silver dollar is that they haven't got enough of them.

Mr. Carlisle should treat the silver dollar as cash, as the people do, and redeem the silver notes with it.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

According to Dr. Talmage, heaven is busier than Broadway.

Cardinal Gibbons says that young men who are superficially educated affect skepticism in order to appear wise and learned.

General Wade Hampton denounces the South Carolina state saloon law as an outrageous piece of folly and stupidity.

The Houston Post wants a southern school history that will teach our children that Jefferson Davis was no more of a rebel than George Washington.

When the weather is intensely hot in the south and intensely cold in the north, cyclones or tornadoes may be expected in the Mississippi valley and the south Atlantic states.

One argument in favor of the anti-Chinese law is that the Chinamen who come here return to China to spend their money. If this justifies us in treating them like criminals, what about us who do with our wealthy classes, who are said to spend from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 in Europe every year? A man's money is his own and he has the right to spend it where he pleases.

The federal constitution provides that no person shall be compelled in a criminal case to be a witness against himself. George F. Wilson, a Chicago publisher, was convicted of violating a postal law, but in order to obtain his conviction the United States district attorney had to state to the jury when the case was up in the court below that the accused had not taken the witness stand in his own behalf. This was equivalent to arguing that he was guilty and would have felt necessitated to confess his guilt if he had submitted himself to cross-examination by the government's lawyers, or, in other words, was compelling him to be a witness against himself. All the members of the federal supreme court are of the opinion that this argument was calculated to prejudice the jury against the accused, and so the case was remanded to the court below with instructions to grant a new trial.

GOSSIP IN THE STATE.

The Dalton Argus has a few candidates of its own. It says:

"Now, that Dink Botts has somewhat subsided, the names of Dink Tanks, Munk Heggs and Cass Weasel for all the postoffices handy."

Commenting on the retirement of Colonel Williamson from the legislative race, The Griffin News says:

"Mr. Williamson is one of the most popular and influential democrats of Spaulding county, and would have made a fine run had not personal reasons stood in the way of his work. His nomination, however, was a compliment to his worth and the courtesy of the true southern gentleman, followed by the best wishes of his hosts of friends and supporters."

The Washington Chronicle makes this statement:

"A telegram in Sunday's Constitution stated that Mr. Jack Dixon's confirmation as postmaster at this place was delayed for two weeks at the instance of Judge Lawson. But here in Washington this is considered an error, as Mr. Dixon has a letter from Judge Lawson to the contrary."

The Covington Enterprise, commenting on the resignation of Congressman Livingston in the Atlanta Herald, says:

"Colonel Livingston is the democratic congressman from the Atlanta district and may yet go to the United States senate. He is allowed to name the postmaster at Covington or not, he has defeated every combination which has been set on foot against him, and he has friends enough to keep it up in the future."

This is the view of The Pickens County Herald takes of it:

"Already a great deal of talk is being indulged in about the candidates for governor, but the press is almost entirely without favor of Steve Clark. It now looks as if Steve will be called on by his state to serve in that capacity."

The Thomaston Times-Enterprise has this to say of Judge Hassell:

"Judge Hassell ought to be on the supreme court bench, said a visiting attorney. 'He is not only the oldest judge in the state, but he is also the ablest and most dignified, and would be an honor to the supreme bench.'"

The Grinnett Herald, discussing the next senatorial race, says:

"Surely we can, out of the many able men in the state, select a man of first-class ability and high character to represent our district in the senate from other states. From the days of our colonial history Georgia has been ably represented in the higher branch of congress, and the people have the right to expect that the legislature will look to fitness and commanding ability in our next senator."

The Marietta Journal says of Mr. Atkinson:

"The Constitution in an editorial speaks of right and justice, his official head, and has performed for the democratic party and states that he is entitled to recognition at the hands of the administration. Mr. Atkinson is not an applicant for office, but a man in Georgia did more to aid the cause of democracy than Mr. Atkinson in the last campaign. We shall never forget his noble speeches and Colonel Lewis made in Cobb. Bill Atkinson gave much of his valuable time to the cause of the democracy. He has a host of friends in this section of Georgia who would be glad to see him honored before him."

PERTINENT AND IMPERTINENT.

Washington Post: The Kansas women scolded away from the populist party as if it were a rat.

JUST FROM GEORGIA.

A change in the bill.

"Twas yesterday the violins came peeping, 'croopin' out,
An' the sweet winds were a-blowin' all the blossoms roundabout;
An' the birds were a-singin' loud from every rumpled tree,
An' the rivers were a-singin' as they splashed towards the sea!

But they've kinder changed the bill,
For the weather's got a chill;
The violet's gone back to sleep
An' all the birds are still!
An' it's freeze, freeze, freeze,
From the mountains to the sea,
For they say that Spring's a woman,
An' she's mighty hard to please!

'Twas yesterday the fannel was too itchin' some to wear,
An' we jumped into the duster for the balance of the year;
An' the straw hat o' last summer come a-tumblin', rumblin' down,
An' the feller with the ice cart went a-gallopin' through town!

But they've kinder changed the bill,
For the weather's got a chill;
An' we're huntin' for the fannel
An' the fire fit to kill!
For it's freeze, freeze, freeze,
With the age in your knees;
The man who do say Spring's a woman,
An' she's mighty hard to please!

Somehow or other, The Thomaston Times-Enterprise presents a brighter appearance than formerly. Perhaps its new headline accounts for it.

"Suppose you try—er—some brains, sir!"

"One of the finest presses ever put up in a country office," is the announcement of The Liberty County Herald. That looks like business.

The editorial page of the current issue of The Monroe Advertiser is up to high-water mark.

The Griffin Call has this notice of Mr. Small's visit to that city:

"Rev. Sam W. Small, one of the most eloquent and popular preachers of the south, is in the city, lecturing in a series of meetings being held in the Methodist church. He will remain during the week and will preach each night."

Some Georgia Nuggets.

The office that seeks the man never has any trouble in finding him. He is generally mighty in the way.

The man who thinks he has a mortgage on creation loses lots of time in trying to foreclose it.

Lots of people like to talk about contentment, but mighty few of them like to work for it.

The man who knows it all generally tells it all, so it doesn't do him any good after all.

BUCK SHOULD BE BOUNCED.

Albany News and Advertiser: Boss Buck should be bounced at once.

Thomaston Times: Buck should be bounced at the earliest practical moment. And he should be bounced hard.

Tabbotown News Era: Georgia democrats demand the head of Boss Buck. Off with it instantly!

Brunswick Advertiser: Georgia democrats cannot but wonder how it is that Boss Buck escaped the application of the civil service rule. If he is not a political hyster, who is?

Pickens County Herald: Because of offensive partnership—in other words, using his office to help the fortunes of the republican and party in Georgia—Buck should be bounced on the spot.

Columbus Enquirer-Sun: There seems to be a ground swell in Georgia in favor of the removal of United States Marshal Buck. If the rule about offensive and pernicious partnership means anything, it ought to hit Buck in the neck at once. Indeed, Buck is one person who ought not to be allowed to hold office twenty-four hours under a democratic administration.

Columbia Advertiser: Why is it that the official head of Colonel A. E. Buck has not been demanded yet? It strikes us that if there ever was a case where the intervention of the party guillotine was imperatively needed, this is certainly one of them. If he is not the personification of "offensive partnership," then we admit that we don't know what the term means.

Athens Banner: Mr. Cleveland seems to hesitate about the removal of A. E. Buck from the position of marshal of the northern district of Georgia, when, as a matter of right and justice, his official head should have been the first to have been severed by the ax of the headman, so far as Georgia is concerned. He is the forefront of the republican party in the state of Georgia. He is the man who sets the negro against the white friends, and thus stirs up race prejudice. He is the man who, at the republican convention, advocated a force-bill policy and a provision lumping. He is the man who put out to the negroes of Georgia orders to pose with the party of James B. Weaver, tyrant of Pulaski and villain of the people of the southern states. He is the man who sought by all means to put upon Georgia the disgrace and ignominy of democratic defeat in the stronghold of the party of our fathers. Does Mr. Cleveland wish to insult the democracy of Georgia? Then let him keep Boss Buck in office awhile longer.

GEORGIA PRESS PERSONALS.

LaGrange Reporter: Congressman Moses has decided to have a competitive examination in LaGrange, some time in May, if applicable, the West Point cadetship now at his disposal.

Rockdale Banner: Colonel James C. Barton is an applicant for United States pension agent for the southern district. He is a man in many ways peculiarly fitted for the position.

Pickens County Herald: Hon. F. C. Tate arrived in Jasper Sunday, at noon, for the first time since becoming a full-fledged congressman. He wears the honor with ease, and has already learned a great deal that will be of great benefit to him and his constituents.

Dalton Argus: The Argus takes pleasure in saying a good word for Professor Hall, than whom no man could be better qualified to fill the position for which he is suggested. His character has been varied, and his knowledge is thorough. It would be a benefit to the state to have such a man as her state geologist.

Washington Chronicle: Wilkes county once made Captain Henry Carlton congressman, at a very critical moment in a political contest. If he should be in the race for governor next year it is said it will be, he will probably again have the opportunity of coming to his rescue. But it is too soon now to take position in the field for next year's campaign.

Thomaston Times: Solicitor Peoples is among his Thomaston friends again. Mr. Peoples makes a splendid solicitor, and looks well after the state's interests.

Rev. L. G. Broughton, of Winston, N. C., preached a sermon last Sunday night on "The Modern Judas—The Press," in which he took occasion to rip the editors up the back. He arranged the newspapers as false and purveyors for poisoning the minds of their readers with stories of murders and scandals. His sermon created a sensation, and is being condemned by the state press.

Perhaps the most considerate man out of jail was one who broke out at Hopkinsville, Ky., the other day. He sawed his way to liberty, first leaving in his cell, where it would be readily found, a long letter, in which he laboriously expressed his deep regret at being compelled to hurt the feelings of his jailer by escaping. He concluded his remarkable epistle by saying to the jailer: "It mortifies my feelings to do such a thing, but I am forced to do it, and my family, I lay all of my down fall at my last step-mother's door."

A TERRIBLE END

High Nearly Brought Death to the Jumper.

HE HAD RETIRED WITH A COMPANION

and Being Disturbed Took an Almost Fatal Plunge—Taken to the Kimball House and Tenderly Treated.

A very interesting patient is now in a state of convalescence in the Kimball house.

For several days he was at the point of death, so it is stated by those who had a chance to see him, but owing to the skillful treatment of Dr. Huza he will live to report of the rashness which brought him to his present misfortune.

One night last week at a late hour a man was brought to the Kimball house, and being disturbed took an almost fatal plunge—taken to the Kimball house and tenderly treated.

The flush of the commencement season is on. To the top of the Blue Ridge and hundreds of school children are learning their little speeches to say the night their school closes.

THE COMMENCEMENTS

They Are High at Hand and the Young Tommy Gramling, Eleven Years Old, Locked Up.

Folks Are Glad.

HE IS CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Touching Story of His Alleged Crime—A Bright Little Fellow Without Home or Friends.

Tommy Gramling, a little fellow who says he is eleven years old and without a relative in the world, a waif from the orphanage and a bright youth, is making his home in a very gloomy and very strong cell at the police headquarters.

Tommy's story is a touching one. He is charged with larceny, but he is making the best of his uncomfortable circumstances.

Almost since it opened Tommy has been an inmate of the orphanage, one of the brightest and cheeriest of the youngsters it shelters. He is quick to learn, naturally bright and intelligent, and as handsome a little fellow could be found in a day's journey.

He was very obedient, very studious and seemed to appreciate his position at the orphanage. His teachers were very fond and very proud of him, and he carried himself with an air of conscious worth.

A few days ago Tommy's teacher selected him of all other members of his class to carry a note to Mrs. Swift's, on Spring street. Tommy was only too proud to go, and he carried the note with a beaming face.

He carried the note and returned with an answer. He received the praise of his teacher with evident gratification and went about his studies.

Tommy's black storm was brewing about his head, of which he was blissfully unconscious. Soon after he left Mrs. Swift's he was seized by a man who had been waiting for him and he was taken to the police station.

He was locked up and he held until something could be done. Mrs. Dr. J. L. Turner is deeply interested in the little fellow and has been at work to secure his release and find him a good home. She has been conferring with Chief Connolly about the matter.

Little Tommy was found in his cell last night. A constable, reporting, reclining on his bunk reading The Constitution with a great show of interest. He put aside his paper and looked at the constable with a surprised expression. He asserted with a fine show of spirit that he was innocent of stealing the watch.

He said he had never stolen anything in his life and I never will.

The little prisoner was neatly dressed and his personal appearance is very good. He has a handsome, honest face and has none of the characteristics of a bad boy.

He spends most of his time reading and says he has read all the books in the orphanage. "I've just been reading about Edwin Booth," he said. "He's an actor and got killed."

It is likely that the ladies who have interested themselves in behalf of the little waif will find a home for him in the orphanage.

He is giving them all the aid he can. He is a student at the orphanage and he is a very good student.

Thus it is seen that all of the schools are getting ready for the season of mirth and merriment. The young girl graduates are already buying their new dresses for the commencement exercises. They are learning the latest songs to be sung upon the stage that day. They are getting their hair done and their hands made up.

The difficulty occurred at the National hotel, and after it was over, Engles was arrested and Captain Baker's wounds were dressed by Dr. Huza.

It seems that Engles went into the National hotel last night and was playing pool. Captain Baker asked Engles to leave the place, and he went out. A few minutes later some one approached Captain Baker and stated that Engles was coming back with a rock to assault him.

Engles came in and Captain Baker asked him to leave. Engles, it seems, had a long knife in his hand, and as the captain spoke he rushed at him with the knife and inflicted an ugly wound in the back. The cut was a long one, and the physician who was called in was required to put several stitches in the captain's back.

A case was made against Engles, but he was released subsequently.

A VACANT HOUSE BURNED.

A Cottage on Powers Street Destroyed by Fire.

At 10 o'clock last night a three-room cottage at the corner of Powers and Lovejoy streets caught on fire, and before the department could respond the flames had gained such headway that it was destroyed.

Another cottage adjoining was damaged to some extent by being burned on the roof. The destroyed house was vacant and the cause of the fire is not known. It was vacated yesterday. The flames originated somewhere in the center of the house and had grown to considerable proportion when discovered.

An alarm was sent in from box 112, on the corner of Baker and Spring streets, and the department responded promptly. Water was hard to get, and some delay was caused in this way.

AMATEURS TO PLAY THE "MIKADO"

Professor Baker, of Chicago, Preparing for a Production on an Elaborate Scale.

A grand amateur production of "The Mikado" is being prepared and is to be given about the middle of the day under the direction of Professor W. A. Baker, of Chicago.

Professor Baker reached the city Wednesday and has been busy engaged preparing for the cast. He proposes to give a most elaborate production of the famous and favorite old opera, and will have 150 people in the cast. He has in his company some of the finest musical talent in the city to assist in putting on the opera.

Professor Baker also has an experienced manager of amateur performances, and has just succeeded in giving in Knoxville, Tenn., one of the most successful productions ever given in that city. The press of Knoxville was high in its praises of his work.

The performance of "The Mikado" to be given here will differ in many of its features from any other production of the opera. It will be a new and more elaborate and will partake of the nature of a burlesque.

Some Lovely Fabrics.

Don't fail to go to see Mrs. Curtis, at the Kimball house, who has a large stock of lovely materials, including silks, satins, and gingham, new laces and delicate tissues for trimming.

She has also some charming frocks, and bonnets for children. She will take order for spring shopping in New York and anything you give her to do will be attended to satisfactorily.

Capital City Guard Benefit.

Dancing will be a feature of the entertainment to be given tomorrow night at the Capital City Guard. Professor Knott will put on a Spanish dance with the tambourine by Miss Annie Wells. The little Misses Fifer will give a waltz dance and Miss Lela Knott will give a waltz dance.

Knott will appear for the first time in thirty years in a waltz step dance and will also give a waltz dance.

Trinity's Revival.

The Trinity revival moves on with unabated force. There was a number of accessions yesterday, and the services were attended as usual.

W. F. McCarty is preaching this week with power, and the Lord is honoring the effort. More than one hundred persons have come into the church during the meeting and others are being added. The special services will likely go on through next week. Rev. H. L. Crumley preaches this afternoon. He is doing fine service.

They Are High at Hand and the Young Tommy Gramling, Eleven Years Old, Locked Up.

Folks Are Glad.

HE IS CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Tommy Gramling, a little fellow who says he is eleven years old and without a relative in the world, a waif from the orphanage and a bright youth, is making his home in a very gloomy and very strong cell at the police headquarters.

Tommy's story is a touching one. He is charged with larceny, but he is making the best of his uncomfortable circumstances.

Almost since it opened Tommy has been an inmate of the orphanage, one of the brightest and cheeriest of the youngsters it shelters. He is quick to learn, naturally bright and intelligent, and as handsome a little fellow could be found in a day's journey.

He was very obedient, very studious and seemed to appreciate his position at the orphanage. His teachers were very fond and very proud of him, and he carried himself with an air of conscious worth.

A few days ago Tommy's teacher selected him of all other members of his class to carry a note to Mrs. Swift's, on Spring street. Tommy was only too proud to go, and he carried the note with a beaming face.

He carried the note and returned with an answer. He received the praise of his teacher with evident gratification and went about his studies.

Tommy's black storm was brewing about his head, of which he was blissfully unconscious. Soon after he left Mrs. Swift's he was seized by a man who had been waiting for him and he was taken to the police station.

He was locked up and he held until something could be done. Mrs. Dr. J. L. Turner is deeply interested in the little fellow and has been at work to secure his release and find him a good home. She has been conferring with Chief Connolly about the matter.

Little Tommy was found in his cell last night. A constable, reporting, reclining on his bunk reading The Constitution with a great show of interest. He put aside his paper and looked at the constable with a surprised expression. He asserted with a fine show of spirit that he was innocent of stealing the watch.

He said he had never stolen anything in his life and I never will.

The little prisoner was neatly dressed and his personal appearance is very good. He has a handsome, honest face and has none of the characteristics of a bad boy.

He spends most of his time reading and says he has read all the books in the orphanage. "I've just been reading about Edwin Booth," he said. "He's an actor and got killed."

It is likely that the ladies who have interested themselves in behalf of the little waif will find a home for him in the orphanage.

He is giving them all the aid he can. He is a student at the orphanage and he is a very good student.

Thus it is seen that all of the schools are getting ready for the season of mirth and merriment. The young girl graduates are already buying their new dresses for the commencement exercises. They are learning the latest songs to be sung upon the stage that day. They are getting their hair done and their hands made up.

The difficulty occurred at the National hotel, and after it was over, Engles was arrested and Captain Baker's wounds were dressed by Dr. Huza.

DAY WITH THE POLICE.

Events and Incidents of Yesterday in Police Circles.

DATE OF THE POLICE PICNIC CHANGED

Three Patrolmen Dangerously Ill—An Old Thief Caught—Detectives of Standing Court—Other Items.

The police picnic will not be held on May 10th as advertised. But the indications are that it will occur about five days earlier—about May 5th.

The committee that selected the date for the picnic discovered yesterday that the grocers had selected May 10th for their picnic at Lawrenceville, and as the two picnics would seriously conflict with each other if held on the same day, it was decided to change the date of the police outing.

Chief Connolly, chairman of the committee on arrangements, has called a meeting of the committee to be held this morning to agree upon a date for the outing. He stated yesterday that he would propose May 4th. The committee are doing all they can to perfect the arrangements for the picnic, and they are determined to make it one of the most enjoyable affairs of the kind held during this season.

The library growing.

Mr. Charles A. Appel, of the Southern Granite Company, of Lithonia, has shipped to Chief Connolly for the police library an entire case of books. The collection consists of many choice and standard works of literature, and will make a welcome addition to the books already sent in.

Chief Connolly is going to have the library fitted up in excellent style, and the benefits of a well-stocked library. The room for the library is one of the pleasantest in the new police station. It is on the third floor and is favorably situated as regards breezes and outlook.

A Bachelor of Arms.

Detective Joe Green yesterday arrested Howard Thornton, an old negro fifty-five years of age, on a charge of burglary. The old negro is charged with breaking open the tool chest of Messrs. A. K. Webb and J. H. Webb, the contractors who are putting up the new hotel Marion on North Pryor street.

These gentlemen have been suffering the loss of tools for several weeks past, and the robbery had been perpetrated in a most clever and systematic manner. The loss was estimated at $100.00. The matter was referred to the police station, and the detective department of the city was called in to investigate the case. He yesterday succeeded in fastening the guilt of the robbery upon Howard Thornton, and arrested him. He succeeded in recovering some of the stolen goods.

Three Sick Policemen.

Patrolmen Cooper, Abbott and Patterson are confined to their homes, each being seriously ill. Patrolman Cooper was stricken on his last beat about two weeks ago, and had to be carried home in the ambulance. He has since been critically ill with pneumonia. Patrolman Abbott is also seriously ill with pneumonia. He has been confined since Sunday. Patrolman Patterson has been confined for ten days, and yesterday was able to be out, and expected to go on duty today, but yesterday he suffered a severe relapse, and last night he was in a serious condition. A patrolman has been detailed to watch by the bedside of each of the three sick officers.

They Are Off to Sweep.

The entire detective department has been at a standstill this week, owing to the attendance at court of the full force of detectives. Their presence has been resented by the warehouse constantly since Monday, and they have succeeded in convicting several bad criminals whom they ran down and arrested. William Callaway, the negro who was arrested by Detective Bedford for highway robbery, was given ten years yesterday. The arrest and conviction of Callaway was one of the best pieces of work the detective department has done in a long time.

Fighting for Memorial Day.

The police have been drilling during the past two weeks so as to be in training for Memorial Day. Captain Manley drilled his men in the drill ground last night. On Monday the entire police battalion will drill under command of the chief.

THE NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 20.—The stock speculation was feverish and unsettled again today by the same causes which have operated against the market for a week past. The uncertainty in regard to the treasury policy, the strength of sterling exchange, the talk of heavy gold engagements and the signs of increased stringency in money, all tended to unsettle the views of holders of stocks. At the same time, the bears were emboldened to make more vigorous attacks upon such stocks as they knew to be unprotected. Taken together, the losses were by no means heavy. Missouri Pacific fell 3 1/8; National Cordage, preferred, 3; Lake Shore, 2 3/8; Manhattan, 2; General Electric, 1 3/4; and Western Union, 1 1/2. The remainder of the list yielded 1/4 to 1/2. A number of the advanced 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 during the morning, but reacted later in sympathy with stocks just named. Just prior to the close, there was a recovery of 1/2 to 3/8 from the lowest point, which proved to be a temporary rally. Secretary Carlisle would come out with an official statement in regard to his policy this evening.

Among the specialties, Tennessee Coal and Iron, preferred, rose 1/8 to 94 1/2; Edison Illuminating, 4 1/2; and Richmond Terminal, preferred, 3 1/2. Edison Illuminating rallied 2 1/2 to 2 3/4. The market closed steady in most cases. Railroad bonds weaker; sales, $61,000. Reading declined 1/8 to 5 1/8 per cent; Richmond and Danville debentures fell 2 to 4 1/8; Richmond Terminal, 3 1/2 to 42 1/2. Money on call, well supplied, ranging from 4 to 6 per cent. Last loan at 4, closed offered at 4; prime mercantile paper, 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 per cent.

Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 48 1/2 to 49 for sixty days, and 49 1/2 to 50 for demand.

TWENTY-THREE INNINGS

Were Played in Augusta Yesterday Afternoon and the Augusta's Won.

ONLY THREE GAMES IN THE LEAGUE.

Saturday Winds Up the Fourth Series of the Season as Then the Atlanta Will Come Home.

It took twelve innings to settle the game between Atlanta and Augusta yesterday afternoon.

The game was not only the longest, but it was one of the best, that has been seen in the Southern League this year and was attended by one of the largest crowds that has been out so far.

Murray presented Keenan and Dixon, while Stallings had in the points German and Wilson. Keenan is considered one of the best pitchers on the Atlanta payroll, while every one who has seen the Augustas play declare that German is not only the best in that club, but that he is one of the best in the league. His work yesterday indicates that the people of that city are not far wrong in their estimate of the twirler, too.

The game was Atlanta's with all ease from the first ball that left the pitcher's hand up to the last one in the twelfth inning. In fact, for seven innings it looked very much like the Atlanta would have a shut-out against the Augustas, but in the eighth Stallings' men went against Keenan's curves with such strength and accuracy that two runs were pounded out. Then in the next inning staged playing on the part of the Atlanta and good hitting on the part of the Augustas brought in another run for the men Murray was opposing.

That tied the score and from that point on the game was the most interesting Augusta people have ever seen.

In the tenth neither side could score, but in the eleventh Murray and Stallings saw one of their men across the plate. That made the score 4 to 4 and the game was as much of an uncertainty to the big audience as it was before the first ball was tossed.

In the twelfth inning one of the Augusta lads managed to get around the bags and added another run to the four already chalked up.

Could Atlanta again tie the score or would she beat it out?

No one could answer the question, but every one in the grand stand and on the bleachers could indulge in wishes and hope about the matter. And every one did just that thing. All the wishes and hopes were that Atlanta would not be able to cross the plate and the hopes and wishes played the part of winner.

But here is the story as it comes from Augusta:

The Story from Augusta.

CURES
KIDNEY DISEASES

For the last few years kidney disease has been rapidly on the increase.
Insidious in its approach—alarming in its consequences—this terrible scourge has cut down some of the brightest intellects of the age. Many suffer from kidney trouble long before they are aware of the true character of their complaint.
In disease any neglect or delay is dangerous. This is peculiarly true of all kidney affections. As soon as the first symptoms appear, treatment should commence.
Dull pain in the back, weakness over the joints or tenderness upon pressure, scanty or reddish urine, cloudy after standing, brick dust deposit, albumen or uric acid reaction, smarting or burning pains in passing water, etc., are danger signals, and should be promptly heeded.

Stuart's Gin and Buchu
Is the remedy you need. By its use you do not have to live up for treatment. You can follow your usual avocation and also get well.

IN LOUISVILLE.

That's Where the Southern Educational Association Will Meet.

THEN FROM LOUISVILLE TO CHICAGO.

Another School Census Enumerator Hands
In His Report—Pinkeyes Spreading in the Schools.

The next session of the Southern Educational Association will be held in Louisville, Ky. That point has just been decided by a vote of the association's members.
And the time of the meeting has been set for the 11th, 12th and 13th of July.

The meeting of the Southern Educational Association, which occurred in Atlanta last year is too well remembered to need any recalling especially since it was an Atlanta man who was elected president, Mr. W.
F. Slaton, superintendent of the public school system.

At the meeting in this city there were about five hundred delegates present, and this year President Slaton estimates that there will be at least two hundred and fifty members to go from Georgia. The membership is on the increase, and is due in a great part to the efficient work of the president.

The executive committee of the association will meet in Nashville on the 29th of this month and will arrange a programme that will exceed any one hitherto gotten up by the association. At the executive meeting there will be representatives from fifteen states, each one going to Nashville with the purpose of giving their best work to the completion of an interesting and business-like daily routine for the coming convention.

Already the citizens of Louisville have raised $1,000 to defray in part the expenses of the convention, and satisfactory arrangements were completed yesterday afternoon by President Slaton with the railroads in regard to hold-over tickets. After the convention adjourns the members will go on to Chicago, where they will attend the national congress of teachers in a body. Of course, by way of parenthesis, the world's fair will be visited by the teachers and other points of interest will be viewed.
The voting for the place to hold the meeting was done by mail, and the result was just arrived at yesterday morning.

The First Ward Report In.

Ernest J. Ronch, school census enumerator for the first ward, has reported to Major Slaton. The report is a good one, and shows the same preponderance of females as in the other three wards already in.

The total number of white children of school age is 1,369, of which 761 are boys and 588 are girls. Of these, 14 over the age of ten years cannot read and write. That have never attended any school whatever there are 8, and 81 have never attended public school. There is only one illiterate child. There is a total of 1,563 negro children of the school age, and 216 of them have been to no public school, while 20 have never attended school. Five blind, 3 idiots, 3 deaf and dumb, 163 cannot read and write. The males number 703 and the females 860.

Pinkeyes Seem to Be Spreading.

The disease of the eyes, commonly known as pinkeye, which appeared in the public schools several days ago, seems to be spreading. The form is somewhat milder than at first, and the pupil attacked very seldom has to remain away from school longer than a day or two.

The Knowledge and Skill.
Essential to the production of the most perfect and popular laxative remedy known, have enabled the California Fig Syrup Company to achieve a great success in the reputation of its remedy. Syrup of Figs, as it is conceded to be the universal laxative. For sale by all druggists.

THE CONDUCTORS' PICNIC.

The Order of Railroad Conductors Will Take an Outing on the 5th of May.

The Atlanta division, No. 150, of the Order of Railroad Conductors, will have their seventh annual picnic this year at People's park, Lawrenceville, Ga., on the Seaboard Air-Line road on the first Friday in May, the 5th.

The place selected is in a most beautiful grove, where there is an abundance of cool spring water, and all that goes to make up a delightful picnic ground. A magnificent dancing pavilion is being built by the Seaboard Air-Line road for the benefit of the picnickers. The conductors are going to do things up in first-class style, having engaged the best music and other requisites, and will go in for a big time. This picnic has always been a big success in the past, and promises to be better than ever this year, with such a committee in charge as Captain Fred D. Bush, Captain Zack Martin and Captain M. D. Land. Excursion rates will be given and the boys expect to have the biggest crowd on record.

If you once try Carter's Little Liver Pills for sick headache, biliousness or constipation, you will never be without them. They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take.
Don't forget this.

The Mutual Benefit Life
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF NEWARK, N. J.

ADVANTAGES:
Age, Forty-eight years.
STRENGTH:
Assets over FIFTY-ONE MILLION DOLLARS.
ANNUAL DIVIDENDS:
Which can be used either to decrease yearly premiums or to increase the amount of insurance. (The company issues no "Fictitious Estimates," or "Twenty Year Distributions," which are a delusion and a snare.)
The average dividends of the company for the past forty-eight years have been over 20 per cent.
On every policy (after in force two years) is guaranteed in black and white.
1st. Amount the company will loan.
2d. Extended insurance (in case of lapse) for the face of policy.
3d. Paid up value.
Also, if on the "convertible" plan, a guaranteed cash surrender value is given each year.
The company has just issued a new contract—"Installment Bond," which is one of the best installment policies on the market. It offers every favorable feature, is secure, cheap and it is an annual dividend policy.
We will be pleased to show our policy contract, which is our strongest argument.

PREPARED FOR ANYTHING.

THE ELEMENTS HAVE BEEN STRANGELY BUSY IN FURNISHING IMPORTANT TOPICS FOR MID-APRIL NEWSPAPER READERS. CY-CLONES AND CLOUDBURSTS HAVE MADE SPORT OF HUMAN LIFE AND OF THE WORKS OF HUMAN HANDS DURING THE PAST FEW DAYS; AND THE STATE OF OHIO HAS BEEN TREATED TO A SHOCK OF EARTHQUAKE. SUNDAY A TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE OCCURRED, AND AS IT WAS THE LAST PHENOMENON OF THE KIND DURING THE PRESENT CENTURY THE ASTRONOMERS CROSSED CONTINENTS AND CLIMBED THE HIGHEST MOUNTAIN PEAKS IN ORDER TO REACH THE MOST DESIRABLE POINTS OF OBSERVATION. THE POLITICAL WORLD IS ALSO ON THE EVE OF EXPECTANCY. THE WORLD OF FASHION HAS NEVER BEEN MORE BUSY WITH SPRING OFFERINGS, AND NO SHADOW OF ANYTHING A PPROACHING OUR BARGAINS IN CLOTHING CAN BE FOUND IN THIS VICINITY. AN EXPERT SAYS NO
EQUAL STOCK HAS EVER BEEN SEEN BENEATH OUR ROOF.

THE PRESTIGE OF STYLE SECURED DURING RECENT YEARS IS TO BE MADE GREATER THIS SEASON. THE SUITS ARE READY. AR-TISTIC TAILORING PLUS ELEGANT MATERIALS—THAT'S THE SUM OF IT.
